
D & D Partners is admitted to the Global Legal Blockchain Consortium

D & D Partners has been admitted to the Global Legal Blockchain Consortium (GLBC). The GLBC was formed to organise and align various industry stakeholders around the globe to enhance security, privacy, productivity and the interoperability of blockchain technology within the legal sector. The GLBC also adopts policies that promote a universal blockchain-based technology infrastructure for law. With over 150 members which includes law firms, software companies, and tertiary and research institutions, the GLBC aims to develop standards for governance, and collaborate to create blockchain-based solutions. D & D Partners is delighted to engage and associate with the GLBC's members, and participate in the growth of the global legal blockchain ecosystem.
